

DIGITAL
8.224013

dacapo

MARCO POLO

C.E.F. Weyse (1774-1842) was born in Northern Germany and came to Denmark in 1789. Here he joined the circle of German-speaking composers who lived and worked in Copenhagen. Weyse continued the Viennese classical tradition that had been introduced into Denmark by J.A.P. Schulz and F.L.Æ. Kunzen, and his seven symphonies from the 1790s reveal him as an imaginative instrumental composer.

Symphony no. 4 in E minor, DF 120 (1795)

[27:03]

- | | | |
|-----|--------------------------------|--------|
| [1] | Grave – Allegro | [6:17] |
| [2] | Largo | [7:47] |
| [3] | Minuetto | [6:14] |
| [4] | Allegro moderato e con energia | [6:45] |

Symphony no. 5 in E flat major, DF 121 (1796, rev. 1838)

[29:20]

- | | | |
|-----|-----------------------------|---------|
| [5] | Maestoso – Allegro con brio | [10:04] |
| [6] | Andante | [7:45] |
| [7] | Minuetto | [5:00] |
| [8] | Allegro con spirito | [6:31] |
-

Royal Danish Orchestra
(Solo violin: Mogens Durholm)
MICHAEL SCHÖNWANDT

DDD • © 1995 & © 1995 dacapo/HNH International • [56:31]

Compact disc manufactured by
P&O Compact Disc,
GmbH, Diepholz,
Germany

LC 9158