

It is said that young J.S. Bach walked 300 miles on foot to hear Danish-born DIETRICH BUXTEHUDE (c. 1637-1707) play the organ. Indeed Buxtehude's organ music greatly influenced Bach with its clarity of line, its nobility and often daring harmonic invention; all combined in the stylus phantasticus. This exclusively authentic recording of Buxtehude's complete organ works traces the composer's footsteps with the famous Buxtehude organ in Elsinore as its starting point.
