The Danish String Quartet

Rune Tonsgaard Sørensen & Frederik Øland, violins;
Asbjørn Nørgaard, viola; Fredrik Schøyen Sjölin, cello

Folk music is the music of everywhere and everyone. Like rivers, the melodies and dances have flowed slowly from region to region: Whenever an old fiddler stumbled on a melody, he would play it and make it his own before passing it on. You don't own a folk tune, you simply borrow it for a while. On this recording we have borrowed and arranged a selection of our favourite Nordic folk tunes and let the music flow through the wooden instruments of the string quartet. Does it work? We hope so. And we hope you will enjoy this recording!
