

WAYNESIEGELTERRA

Christina Dahl , Anne-Mette Skovbjerg, Niels-Ole Bo Johansen

Wayne Siegel (b. 1953) is a Californian composer who settled in Denmark and is a pioneer of the interaction between computers and acoustic instruments. The title work of this CD is constructed solely from the voice of a singer which has been transformed into percussive elements, pitches and melodies. Other intriguing effects on this album include electronic canons, layering and delayed echoes – all putting the acoustic solo instruments into new and exciting perspectives.
