"This stuff is simply gorgeous. Ned Rorem's symphonies are shot through with long, lyrical melodies that some observers might relate to his gifts as a songwriter, but strike me as more likely inspired by the "Sunrise" sequence from Ravel's Daphnis et Chloé—music so strikingly lovely that the beauty it describes can only exist in the world of fantasy and make-believe..." — DAVID HURWITZ, CLASSICSTODAY, ON THE THREE SYMPHONIES

"This is a very easy call: marvelous music, exceptional performances, top-notch engineering—it all adds up to the strongest possible recommendation." — DAVID HURWITZ, CLASSICSTODAY, ON THE FLUTE CONCERTO / VIOLIN CONCERTO
