

8.554316

WALTHER: Organ Works, Vol. 1

NAXOS

8.554316

STEREO

DDD

ALL RIGHTS RESERVED. UNAUTHORISED PUBLIC PERFORMANCE.
BROADCASTING AND COPYING OF THIS COMPACT DISC PROHIBITED.
© 2000 HNH International Ltd.
© 2000 HNH International Ltd.
DISTRIBUTED BY: MVD GmbH, Munich, Germany
Fax +49-89-66503210 e-mail service@mvd.de

Johann Gottfried
WALTHER

(1684-1748)

Organ Works, Vol. 1

Playing
Time
73:43

Craig Cramer, Organ of St Bonifacius, Tröchtelborn, Germany

- |       |                                                               |       |
|-------|---------------------------------------------------------------|-------|
| 1-3   | Concerto del Sigr. Tomaso Albinoniin F major, LV 126      | 7:51  |
| 4-6   | Concerto del Sigr. Tomaso Albinoniin B flat major, LV 127 | 4:52  |
| 7     | Partita, Jesu meine Freude, LV 2                              | 13:29 |
| 8-11  | Concerto del Sigr. Gregoriin B flat major, LV 131         | 6:26  |
| 12    | Fuga in F major, LV 124                                       | 2:08  |
| 13-16 | Concerto del Sigr. Telemannin C minor, LV 136             | 9:00  |
| 17    | In dich hab ich gehoffet, Herr, LV 97                         | 3:14  |
| 18    | Lobe den Herren, den mächtigen Königder Ehren, LV 101     | 2:04  |
| 19    | Christus der ist mein Leben                                   | 1:59  |
| 20-21 | Preludio con fuga in D minor, LV 123                          | 5:10  |
| 22-24 | Concerto del Sigr. Gentiliin A major, LV 130              | 4:50  |
| 25-28 | Concerto del Sigr. Meckin C major, LV 134                 | 10:44 |

Johann Gottfried Walther was a year older than his distant relative Johann Sebastian Bach. The two became friends when Bach spent some time in Weimar, the town that was Walther's home from 1707 until his death. Walther was acknowledged as one of the greatest organists of his day, not only playing his own compositions, but also collecting the manuscripts of works by other composers. Some of the works of J. S. Bach and Buxtehude have come down to us in manuscripts copied by Walther. Perhaps Walther's most important legacy is his Musikalisches Lexikon (Leipzig, 1732), the first comprehensive dictionary of music in the German language.

Recorded in St Bonifacius Church, Tröchtelborn, Germany, from 7th to 9th November, 1997.

Producer and Engineer: Wolfgang Rübsam

Editor: RMC Classical Music Inc., USA

Music Notes: Craig Cramer

Cover Illustration: The Organist, coloured engraving (AKG Berlin)

www.hnh.com

NAXOS

WALTHER: Organ Works, Vol. 1

8.554316