AMERICAN CLASSICS

David Winkler has composed some two hundred works to date, including operas, symphonies, concertos, chamber music, choral music and song cycles. In recent years, he has developed a unique and powerful style which at once connects with traditional architecture while looking forward through a new kind of thematic and harmonic vocabulary. This recording is the composer's first commercial recording for Naxos and features his first Piano Concerto and Elements Concerti, a four-movement concerto for violin and string orchestra.
