

Currently an assistant professor at the Ferenc Liszt Academy of Music in Budapest, from which he graduated in 2007, András Csáki has given recitals throughout Europe, the United States, South America and Japan, and by 2009 had been awarded eighteen prizes, including first prize in the 42nd Michele Pittaluga Guitar Competition in Alessandria, Italy. In this wide-ranging recital he interprets Bach's most technically challenging 'lute suites', Britten's groundbreaking tribute to John Dowland, Duarte's bravura Variations and one of Castelnuovo-Tedesco's finest solo sonatas.
