

Drawing upon Yale Strom and Hot Pstromi's extensive expertise in the klezmer tradition, this album pays tribute to the rich cross-cultural interaction that shapes Eastern European Jewish music. A captivating blend of traditional melodies, virtuosic instrumentation and modern arrangements showcase the timeless appeal of this vibrant musical tradition. Recorded in the 17th century Shakh Synagogue in Holešov, Czech Republic, it is both nostalgic and innovative in its musical concepts, linking the past and the future with beautifully emotive vocals, violin, accordions, contrabass, saxophone, clarinet, flute and piccolo.
