CONFUCIUS IN A NUTSHELL

Written by Neil Wenborn
Read by Nigel Carrington

Confucius stands alone among the world's great thinkers. Perhaps no other teacher has exerted so powerful a hold over so many people for so long. For two and a half millennia his sayings, preserved and developed by generations of his followers, have shaped the cultural and political life of the world's most populous nation, and they continue to offer fresh insights for today's globalised society. This audiobook sets Confucius's life and teachings in the context of the long history of China, and examines the origins, meanings and influence of one of history's most enduring philosophical traditions.

Nigel Carrington has been a regular on the London voice-over circuit since 1981. He has played Nigel Pargetter in The Archers and Dr David Boyce in Westway. His television credits include Jonathan Creek, Kavanagh QC, Coronation Street and Brookside.
