'The past is a foreign country: they do things differently there.'

Haunting, moving, evocative, The Go-Between is L.P. Hartley's heartbreakng novel about social constraints and childhood innocence. During the long hot summer of 1900, young Leo Colston is invited to stay for a month at a lordly, aristocratic manor in Norfolk. There he falls in love with his friend's older sister, who commissions him to ferry secret messages to the local farmer, her lover. His naiveté sustains their affair, until ultimately leading to an event that will change their lives irrevocably.

Sean Barrett has read titles by Samuel Beckett, Haruki Murakami, Cormac McCarthy, Charles Dickens, Rudyard Kipling, Umberto Eco, Sheridan Le Fanu and Sir Walter Scott – all for Naxos AudioBooks. His film credits include War & Peace and his theatre credits include Peter Pan. His television credits include Minder and Father Ted.
