Anna Karenina

Read by Kate Lock

Anna Karenina is beautiful, married to a successful man, and has a son whom she adores. But a chance meeting at a train station in Moscow sets her passionate heart alight, and she is defenceless in the face of Count Vronsky's adoration.

Having defied the rules of 19th-century Russian society, Anna is forced to pay a heavy price. Human nature, with all its failings, is the fabric of which this great and intense work is composed.

Anna Karenina has been described as the perfect Russian novel.

Kate Lock has played Mrs Linde in The Doll's House and Celia in Captain Oates' Left Sock (Finborough). She co-wrote Tuesday's Child with Terry Johnson and in it played Teresa Doyle at Theatre Royal, Stratford and for BBC TV. This is her first reading for Naxos AudioBooks.
