Mysticism to Majesty – The Era of Early Music

While the chronology of early music may resist an exact definition, the advancement of European musical styles portrayed in this catalogue takes us on a fascinating journey from the emergence of gregorian chant (c. 750) up to the development of early Baroque music (c. 1600).

Vocal, instrumental, sacred and secular works are gathered either in discrete discs of the more celebrated composers from the Mediaeval and Renaissance periods, such as Leonin, Perotin, Byrd and Monteverdi, or appear in themed compilations: French chansons, German lute songs, Italian dramatic laments, for example.

If you are new to this musical slice of history, we hope you will enjoy pitting your imagination against the era’s uniquely intriguing sounds.
